Two drown in canoeing accidents

Two men were killed in separate canoeing accidents in the Haliburton Higlands last week.

Christopher Carlton, 66, of Minden drowned, Wednesday evening when he and his son Thomas Henry Carlton, 25, also of Minden, were canoeing in Beer Lake.

Peter Windover, an area resident and one of three men who attempted to save Mr. Carlton, said that he heard yelling and along with Ron Jorgensen, and Ron Pillsworth went to the scene to find one person on shore.

He noted that Pillsworth dove into the lake first in an attempt to find the elder Carlton. "I asked the son where he went down and then dove in," Windover said.

Jorgensen, a North York fireman, started to apply artificial resperation as soon as the man was brought to shore.

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report that a seat on the 14 foot canoe gave way causeing the canoe to upset about 30 feet from the north shore.

The OPP found the body of Robert Paul McKay, 50, of St. Catharines, Wednesday morning in about 20 feet of water.

McKay along with Glen Burke, 31 of Dorset were canoeing in Trading Bay, east of Dorset Tuesday at about 11:40 p.m. when the canoe they were in apparently overturned.

Burke was saved by Bob Abernathy, an area resident who heard cries for help. He found Burke holding on to a raft about 30 feet from shore. Abernathy went out to locate the other canoeist but was only able to find the canoe about 100 yards from shore.

The Minden OPP located the body the next morning about 100 yards from shore.

The OPP report that apparently in both drownings there were no lifejackets worn or carried in the canoes.

Lt. Gov. visits Kilcoo Camp

John Latimer, owner of Kilcoo Camp escorts Lt. Governor Pauline McGibbon on a tour of the camp. Mrs. McGibbon was at Killcoo last week to take part in the closing ceremonies of the camp's olympic program. Mrs. McGibbion arrived at the camp in time to see the tug of war event which concluded the olympics. She stayed long enough to give out the awards from the olympics.

Nurses working without contract

Public Health nurses in Victoria Haliburton will be back on the job Monday morning after being locked out since May 10.

Jean Tyler, one of three nurses in the Haliburton area said that the lockout was lifted after a meeting last Monday although a contract has not yet been signed.

Mrs. Tyler said the nurses are going to honour their part concerning working without a contract adding that negotiations are still going on.

Until Monday it had been over two weeks since the nurses and the Board of Health met on the labor dispute.

Keith Tallman, deputy reeve of Monmouth Township and the area's representative on the board admitted last week that the lock out had been initiated by the board. He pointed out that the board is under guidelines from the province and is attempting to follow the anti-the anti-inflation boards guidelines. Mr. Tallman noted that the last offer made to the nurses was slightly higher than the Federal Government's guidelines.

A news release from the nurses pointed out that they were locked out by the board without threat of strike, slow down or other tactics by the nurses.

"They have been asking

"They have been asking for parity with registered nurses in the local hospitals, a principle the Board of Health has recognized for many years in collective agreements," the release said.

The nurses have been without a contract since Dec. 31.

In recent weeks the nurses have expressed concern about a lack of health care the people in the area are receiving since the lock out began.

They pointed out that the swine flu vaccination which is to be given to a number of people is to be administered by the public health nurses.

Among the cancelled programs were a chest clinic scheduled for June, pre-natal classes, and school immunizations which were not completed.

Marion Tallman, another local health nurse said that she does not believe a strike is professional and that the nurses are asking for arbitration.

Experience '76 crew helps repair tornado damage

Experience 76 crews from the Dysart area have helped clean up the damage at Pine Grove Point resort camp which was hit by a tornado almost two weeks ago.

Joseph Atikinson, owner of the camp, said that John Eakins, MPP Victoria Haliburton, has been in touch with him and is searchin all avenues of recourse to get aid for the camp.

Mr. Atkinson said that damages to buildings is estimated at $5,000 but this does not include trailers and trees.

"We would like to express our appreciation and gratitude to the people who came to our aid after the tornado hit our resort," he said, "had it not been for all of these good people all of the work that our family has done over the past four years would have gone down the drain."

Mr. Atkinson added that his family was not physically of financially capable of re-opening the business and needed the help from the more than 100 volunteers.

He said that he didn't know half of the people who helped in the clean-up operation.

Skeleton found in Wilberforce area swamp

Two youngsters hunting for frogs came across a human skeleton in a swamp east of Wilberforce Monday afternoon.

An Ontario Provincial Police spokesman said that the remains have been sent to Toronto for examination. He noted that the police have no idea who the body is.

Sources from the area indicated that the police had to use helicopters to get into the swamp in order to take the badly decomposed body out.

One report said that the body was found by one of the youngsters when attempting to grab a frog. The body was so badly decomposed according to the report that it began to crumble.

Ontario home renewal

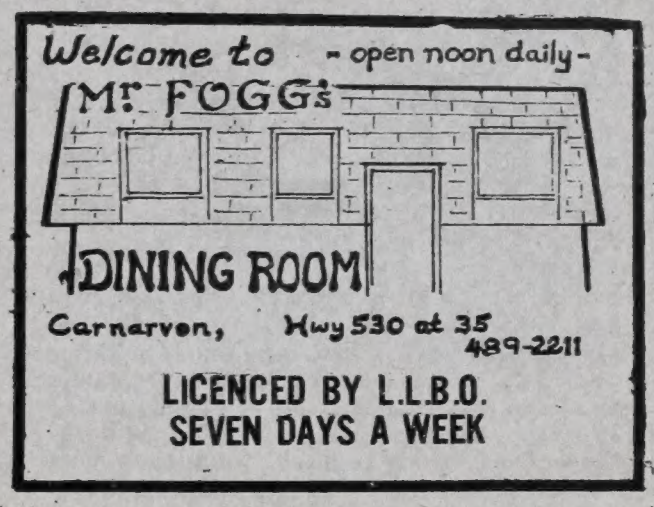
The township of Dalton has received $29,000 allocated under the Ontario Home Renewal Program.

Victoria Haliburton MPP John Eakins said that he is pleased with the grant.

In a news release Mr. Eakins said, "The Ontario Home Renewel Program per capital grants to Ontario municipalities to administer directily as loans to homeowners occupants to repair their houses to an acceptable municipal minimum standard."

He went on to note that the Ontario Home Renewal Program extends home renewal possibilites to owner occupants in any municipality in Ontario, urban or rura, which has adopted either minimum housing standards bylaw or a resolution seting such standards.

Mr. Eakins said he is pleased that a number of municipalities in Victoria Haliburton have been able to take advantage of these allocations and that it will assist many home owners in both counties in upgrading the various plumbing heating and electrical systems in their homes.



Ariens 4 HP Chain Drive.

The tines on Ariens Chain Drive Tiller are driven by a double reduction, heavy duty roller chain; chain, sprockets and bearings are sealed in an oil bath for long life. The tine shaft itself runs on two long life taper bearings designed to absorb thrust and shock in any direction, with two neoprene seals on each side to keep dirt out and oil in.

The Ariens Chain Drive Tiller makes fast work of most cultivating, tilling, and mulching jobs. It is especially well suited to working vital nutrients into medium grain and sandy soils.

The rugged 4-cycle, 4 HP engine and the heavy-duty double reduction roller chain and sprocket transmission produce a tine speed of 100 RPM, a full 33% faster than our gear drive Jet tillers

The chain drive tiller features the same dependable construction that has given the Ariens Jet Tillers their reputation for quality, ruggedness and reliability. It tills up to 9 inches deep, with a tilling width adjustable from 12 to 24 inches - up to 36 inches with the tine extension kit. The chain drive tiller accepts a wide variety of attachments, illustrated on pages 8 and 9.

Gardening Tip
For in-season cultivating, reverse outer tines, or remove them completely. Set depth control at about 2 inches, to remove weeds without damaging crop root systems.

The $64.00 Ouestion for Students

Charles F. Plewman

What are we going to do when we go back to school? Kill time? Try to get the teachers goat? Act like a smart aleck? or are we going to do our best whatever the subject or activity may be?

These are the great "getting ready days of life. Throw them away and the chances are that you will end up on the scrap heap of humanity.

During these days the chances you are going to be, your best friend, or your worst enemy. Every boy is the father of a man, the man he will some day become. You owe it to him the best you can.

It is tragic to see a young man 21 wake up all of a sudden, to the fact that he is out of the race of life before he ever got into it. Why? because the boy he used to be sold him down the river. If only he could re-trace his steps, he would, but now it is too late.

During World War 1 a manufacturing concern in England that was producing war supplies was shocked one day when an important machine came to a dead stop. They immediately got in touch with the company that had installed the machine asking them to send someone to discover what was wrong and to make the necessary repairs. Well he came, worked for more than a week, and still couldn't get the machine to go. Finally in desperation they called in the local mechanic. (You know the saying that a prophet has no honour in his own country.) He went to work, tightening a screw here, and adjusted a connection there, and then he went over and threw on the switch, and low and behold everything began to hum.

Soon the company received his bill for $50.00. As he worked for only 30 minutes they asked him to itemize the bill which he did, it read 50 cents for time, $49.50 for knowing how. The question is when that day comes in your life will you be paid for what you know or for the physical strength you can muster.

The world can be very tough if you haven't a clue. If all you have to offer is brute strength the chances are society will squeeze the strength out of you like a lemon and then cast you aside.

You can do one of two things with that head of yours, you can use it as a hat rack to hang you hat on, or you can make a creative instrument out of it capable of establishing new horizons, and even of thinking God's thoughts after him.

Make no mistake about it, this is the time to dream, and to build castles in the air-to have a vision of what you want to be and do. Aim high, don't sell yourself short, or become satisfied with the mediocre. The good can often be the enemy of the best.

Canada is a young country. The opportunity are many, the sky is the limit. There is scarcelly nothing you cannot be or do, provided you are willing to pay the price. The outcome is up to you. Here's wishing you the best.

Letters to the editor

Dear Sir:

It was with a great deal of surprise and some concern we read your headline and feature story in the August 11/76 edition of the Echo "Miskwabi Growth Planned."

We have been following very closely with municipal and provincial authorities on the status of developments in the Miskwabi area. A more accurate headline would have been "Miskwabi area planned to be included in the Dysart official plan." Approval of the Miskwabi area in the original Dysart official plan was deferred pending resolution of the draft proposal for the north shore of the lake and the results of provincial department's studies.

As the above draft proposal has been recommended against and the studies are completed, plans are underway to bring the area into the Dysart official plan. There is no other proposal in existance at this time for further development on the lake.

Representatives from the Ministry of Housing were present to discuss with council the procedure that must be followed in the upcoming amendments to the official plan for the Miskwabi area.

It is recognized that someone must run the lakeshore and some use is to be made of the property. As regular cottage development as we know it has been ruled against then other alternatives are, a large lot sections of say 1,000 or 2,000 feet or leave it as green belt or wildlife preserve. Any alternative must of course be assessed in line with the designations in the Miskwabi area of the Dysart official plan.

We trust the above clarifies the situation.

J. Strickland, president,
Lake Miskwabi Cottager's Association.

Editor's note: The following letter was sent to the Pioneer Museum from two Toronto residents who were impressed with the facility.

Dear Sir:

It was with a great deal of pleasure that we toured your museum last Sunday (Aug. 8.). In particular, the care with which articles, of themselves perhaps not so important, have been gathered to form a consise portrayal of pioneer life is especially praiseworthy. As we have a special interest in textiles; our attention was immediately drawn to the sewing room, to the unique collection of boots and to the quilts and coverlets.

One coverlet that is very interesting is the Indigo blue on white piece woven in a grape pattern. It is indeed unusual to find a work of this particular weaver, known to us only as "weaver Joe". He is believed to have worked near the "Old Stone Road" (Hwy # 12) between Whitby and Brooklin. from : Burnham and Burnham, "Keep Me Warm One Night" U. of T. Press, 1972. pp 373, 376. ".....a unique group of coverlets woven in 5-end damask that show a considerable variety of designs. All are the work of one man who appears to have been active from about 1850 to 1880.....This pattern, with well-laden vines has been seen in a variety of colour combinations. Grapes are a very difficult motif in textile design, but here have been mastered quite successfully, displaying the weaver's competence as a draftsman. His original patterns show no connection with any other coverlets woven in Ontario; he depended only on his own inspiration and ability, undoubtedly adapting his knowledge of line-damask weaving to this coarser medium to gain a living."

An example such as this of pioneer tenacity and ingenuity is certainly a very rare and a very important part of a local history museum.

Again, our congratulations on a museum the county can be proud of.

Sincerely,

Shelia and Peter Follett.

Second chances

Bill Smiley

Now that the Games are over, and all the tears have been shed, it's time to look ahead to the 1980 Olympics.

What the International Olympic Committee needs like a hole in the head is new ideas, but I'll give them one anyway. It's simple: give everybody a second chance.

I'm sure people like Debby Brill and Bruce Simpson and Yankovich Strmzlwvzlski will agree with me.

Most of us get a second chance in life, whether it's falling down on the job, impaired driving, or being married. Why not the Olympic athletes?

I got a second chance once upon a time, and I was ecstatically grateful for it. It was a lond time ago, and the Olympics had been cancelled for The Duration, but there were some pretty serious games in progress, just the same.

It is one of the great ironies, and my students simply can't understand it when I try to explain, but yours truly, and a lot of others, were involved in a bitter competition. We were trying to become fighter pilots, so we could be killed.

Isn't that silly? But is was so. No Olympic athlete suffered and more tension, anxiety, or frustration than we did when it came to the big day, the final event, our wings test.

Long before that, of course, were the eliminations. First one was the physical examination. It was tough. Many a youth with dreams of dicing through the clouds in a dogfight was shot down in the M.O.s office because he had flat feet or was color blind.

Next came the preliminary heats. These were known as Elementary Flying Training. If you came through about 60 hours of flying training without being terribly air sick, without bouncing more than 40 feet on landings, and without running into another aircraft and killing yourself, you made the semi-finals.

We lived in constant fear. Oh, not of killing ourselves. Nobody was concerned in the least about that. The dread phrase was "washed out." That meant that you weren't going to be that dashing figure-a fighter pilot-but that you were going to be retrained as a mere navigator, wireless op or tail gunner. In other words, sent to the minors.

If you survived the heats off you went to finishing school, known as Advanced Flying. This was like making the Olympic team, but knowing you'd probably finish in 31st place.

I was sent, with a lot of other young idiots dying to be killed, to Camp Borden. It was quite an august group, including one Jake Gaudaur, the large, jovial gentleman who is now the commissar of the Canadian Football League. Hi, Jake.

Despite the augustness of the group, we trained in mid-winter. We flew in snow, we crash landed into snow, and occasionally an intrepid student, usually an Australian, proved once again that an aircraft falling 6,000 feet will not penetrate the ice of Georgian Bay. The whole deal was not unlike Napoleon's retreat from Moscow.

And all the time, leering over our shoulders, was the ugly face of that thing called Washed Out.

It seems incredible, looking back, that we were in such terror of that creature. If all the young fellows in the world had managed to have themselves washed out, there wouldn't have been anyone to fly and kill and die.

But we all suffered all the palpitatons of Olympic contestants as we edged closer and closer to that triump of sado-masochism, the Wings Test.

This consisted of about one hour of psychological torture in which the student flew the aircraft through a number of uncomfortable and alarming exercises while an instructor, sitting in the front seat, snarled imprecations.

Came by big day. Everything was great. I was shaking like a wino. It wasn't quite snowing, but it wasn't quite not snowing. And the intercom wasn't working.

Normally, this isn't a big deal. The intercom was just a little sort of telephone into which the instructor shouted obscenities and the student ground his teeth.

But on the Wings Test, it can be something more than a minor nuisance. My instructor would shout at me to do a steep turn to the left. I would guess at the muffled instructions and do a loop. He would yell at me to do a loop, and I'd do a sloppy slow roll.

After half an hour of this blind man's bluff, he indicated with a ferocious gesture of his thumb that he was taking over and we were going to land. We did. He climbed out, speechless. I climbed out with my tail well between my legs.

He just looked at me, an shook his head. I just looked at hime, and wagged my tail. We both knew that I was Washed Out. He walked away. I looked around for some immediate means of committing suicide. The only thing I could see was a whirling propeller and that was a bit too messy.

There must, of course, be a climax to this fascinating narrative. And there is. Next morning I was moping about, feeling as though I'd just learned my mother was a prostitute and my father a quack abortionist.

A voice: "Smiley, get your gear on!" Another instructor, widely known as a Mean Bastard. We took off. I hate to brag, but with the careless abandon of a man who knows he is off to the galleys anyway, I flang that aircraft around the sky in a dream Winds Test.

Two days later, I not only had my wings, but had suddenly become an Officer and a Gentleman.

So. Everyone deserves a Second Chance. And that is my contribution to the XXIst Olympics. I'll let the committee figure out the details.

Highway 60 renamed MacDougall Parkway

A ceremony was held at the West Gate of Algonquin Park on Saturday, August 21, to rename the portion of Highway 60 that runs through the park. It will be called Frank MacDougall Parkway to recognize and commemorate the contribution of the man who was widely known as Ontario's Flying Deputut Minister of Lands and Forests from 1941 to 1966.

Mr. Paul Yakabuski, M.-P.P. and Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Natural Resources, will represent the Government of Ontario at the ceremony. Assisting if the officiating will be Dr. J.K. Reynolds, Deputy Minister of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

The ribbon will be cut by Mrs. Merren MacDougall. Other members of the family are expected to be present. Also expected are many of the leaseholders in Algonauin Park as well as former colleagues and associates.

Frank MacDougall's contribution in the field of natural resources management and administration is legend. To a considerable extent he was responsible for developing a most efficient forest fire fighting organization including the Provincial Air Service.

He himself was an experienced pilot. In recognition of his contribution in the field of civil aviation, he was awared the McKee trophy in 1964 and ten years later was elected to the Canadian Aviation Hall of Fame.

His first association with Algonquin Park was during the period 1931 to 1941 when he was Superintendent of the Park. Many of today's policies and plans derive from his early work in Algonquin Park.

This connection was among the reasons to have his name commemorated through the designation of Highway 60 between the East and West Gates in Algonquin Park as the Frank MacDougall Parkway.

Report from Queen's Park

by John Eakins
M.P.P., Victoria-Haliburton

As you know, each year quite a number of young people in Ontario have the opportunity of participating in the activities of the Ontario Legislature, in the capacity of Pages. Groups of 20 pages serve for a period of approximately six or seven weeks, and I believe that, for the most part, they find this an interesting and educational experience.

Since the first of March, 1971, girls as well as boys have been eligible to become Pages, and applicants must have either grade 7 or 8, with an average of over 80 per cent. Students wishing to make application must write a personal letter to the Speaker of the House, the Honorable Russell D. Rowe, Room 193, Parliament Buildings, Queen's Park, Toronto. The letter should give details of education and background, as well as the reason for the applicant's interest in serving the legislature. When the Speaker writes to the student, giving general requirements for the position of Page, the applicant then makes a formal application.

For students who do not live in Toronto, it is necessary to make arrangements for accommodation in the city, and this is the responsibility of the Page's parents. In this connection, I would like to stress that Pages are not allowed to leave the Parliament Buildings until they go home each day.

Pages receive an honorarium of $7.50 a day at present, and if it is necessary to stay for a late sitting of the Legislature, each Page receives an additional half day's pay. Incidentally, the evening duties are arranged in such a way that no Page works late more than one evening a week. As the payments are made on the basis of a computerized record, each student must have a Social Insurance Number.

The Legislative Assembly supplies the uniforms for the Pages, and applicants are usually asked to come to Toronto for fittings approximately two or three weeks ahead of their tour of duty. Pages must buy their own meals while working at the Legislature, and this is no great problem as there are a number of excellent cafeterias in the Parliament Buildings.

A qualified tutor is available at the Legislature, and Pages are given some five hours of tutoring each week. A Page Master and Page Mistress are in charge of the young people, and every effort is made to provide recreation in the fresh air on a regular basis. There is also a Games Room available in the quarters allocated to the Pages.

It is always a great pleasure to welcome visitors from the riding when they visit Queen's Park. Many thousands of people come to the Legislature each year, sometimes visiting as individuals, but often in groups - such as school classes, Girl Guides and Boy Scouts, Senior Citizens and so on. In the period between January and June this year, some 980 groups participated in the organized tours - totalling approximately 33,500 people. [illegible] the recess, the tour last approximately [illegible] when the House is in session, a [illegible] the Legislature is included for a [illegible] gives people an opportunity to witness the debates which take place, and one of the most interesting periods for visitors is the Question Period.

The guides who conduct tours, as well as giving historical and legislative history of the Ontario Legislature, also take visitors to the Heritage Rooms, providing interesting information on the exhibits - the history of the Province, Past Premiers, etc. Our guides do everything possible to make the tour entertaining as well as educational, and we have two guides who speak French as well as English, another who speaks Italian. Groups are usually photographed on the main stairway of the Legislative Building, and these photographs are a pleasant memento of an interesting day. Visitors are also given a tourist package which at the present time consists of three booklets - one by Ontario Hydro on the gifts of nature, another called "Grandeur, Ghosts and Gargoyles", an entertaining history of Queen's Park, and third called "People, Ideas and Laws. The package also contains a card on the Province's coat of arms, and a medallion, with the trillium on one side, the coat of arms on the other.

If you wish to arrange a group visit to the Legislature, I would suggest that you try to make your arrangements approximately two months in advance of the proposed visit, to avoid disappointment. I shall be happy to take care of these arrangements for you, if you wish.

May I also take this opportunity to remind you that arrangements can be made for people celebrating 50th (and upwards) Wedding Anniversaries, and 90th (or more) birthdays to receive commemorative scrolls, or plaques, from the Province of Ontario. Please let me know details of such events in the Riding. Scrolls are also available for other special occasions, such as a Town's 50th or 100th anniversary, special acts of heroism, or long standing community service.

Skateboards popular but dangerous

There is a resurgence in the popularity of skateboards, and the Canada Safety Council reiterates its policy with regard to their use.

Skateboards are capable of attaining speeds of up to 35 miles per hour. At this speed the risks are clear. Even at lower speeds, loss of control frequently result in painful and severe injury.

Novice riders have little control over their direction, and at times their speed, and cannot come to a quick stop when necessary.

The device is not fastened to the user and can become a runaway and dangerous to anyone in its path.

The council advises against the use of skateboards in all public locations such as sidewalks, roadways, paved shoulders and on steep grades.

The newer models are considerably more sophisticated than their predecessors of the 60's. They are constructed of flexible high impact molded plastics or glass fibre. The urethane wheels afford a better grip on the road and allow the expert rider to slalom, spin and do balancing acts.

Although the new boards are safer, in some respects; serous injuries continue to occur. The Canada Safety Council regards the skateboard as an unstable device to be used only by those who are prepared to risk bodily harm.

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

This week-end is County Fair Week-end and the Chamber will be ther. The 112th annual Fair at Minden promises to be the biggest and the best yet and we do hope that everyone in the County will take advantage of it. The Chamber of Commerce will have a booth at the Fair and we will be pleased to talk to you about the Community Calendar, Fall promotion, and the Elimination Draw Dance plus any other item of interest to you. Do stop by and see us and support your County Fair.

The Minden Kinettes are running a Flea Market in Minden on Octoberfest week-end and are seeking donations towards this end. If you have any old clother, furniture, tools, etc. call either 286-1934 or 286-1688 and they will be happy to accept them. All proceeds are in aid of the fight against Cystic Fibrosis.

The Ministry of Industry and Tourism is now preparing their "Winter Events" booklet and have asked us to advise them of any special events taking place during December, January and February. Anyone planning events for this winter please let us know as soon as possible. We must submitt our list to the Ministry prior to September 15th.

Haliburton needs a major tourist attraction. The Honourable Claude Bennett agreed to this portion of our brief in July, and recently mentioned it again in a letter to our Chamber. He has pledged the support of his Ministry for any worthwhile project that we can come up with. The Directors are checking our some ideas but we are anxious to hear some ideas from you. What do you think we could develop here that would help promote Tourism preferably all year round? If you have an idea phone or write the Chamber and tell us about it.

A concerned cottager on Gull Lake felt that a speed limit for boats at the mouth of the Gull River may prevent a serious accident. We suggested he discuss it with the O.P.P., which he did. The O.P.P. sent him to the Ministry of Natural Resources, where he was directed to the Land Office and then back to the front office. It was eventually brought to light that speed limits of 6 M.P.H. have been recommended by the municiaplities and this request is being sent to Queen's Park, from which it will be sent to Ottawa and then back here. Having reached this point there will have to be a decision made as to who will be billed for the signs and hopefully they may be installed for next summer. Does it occur to you that not only is there a danger of drowning in a river, but that we are all drowning in government bureaucracy.

At an Ontario Chamber meeting last week in Barrie, the point was brought out that 75 per cent of our provincial parliament is busy this summer serving on committees that are studying how to regulate us even more. The Ontario Chamber will meet with the provincial cabinet on Sept. 8, and see as their major concerns a fight against government red tape, government spending and overpowereing Labour Unions. We'll be there.

Plow match

All systems are go the the 1976 International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Show, to be held in Bruce County from September 28 through October 2. This year's Match site is the Earl Johnston and neighbouring farms, located just west of Walkerton, Ontario.

The Tented City area covers 100 acres, with more than 400 exhibitors displaying the latest in farm machinery, automobiles and home appliances.

"The International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Show provides one of the largest outdoor showrooms for farm equipment in North America," states Ed Starr, Secretary Manager of the Ontario Plowmen's Association. "It gives farmers an opportunity to evaluate and compare all types of machinery and fram supplies in one place. Exhibitors have key personnel on hand to answer any questions about their products."

To date, more exhibitors have booked space in the Tented City than ever before. Starr points out that the Match offers plenty of attractions for urban residents as well as farm families; a view of modern, sophisticated farm machinery increases awareness of the equipment required by farmers for the production of quality food.

1939 Telegram

For three cents on Nov. 13, 1939 you could have found out that Finnish Soviet negotiations broke down and the Finnish delegation was going home and heavy fire from the ground broke up Nazi flights and sent the planes in a hasty retreat from Paris.

These any many other stories made up the front page of The Evening Telegram from Toronto.

The copy of the old Telegram was given to The Echo Recorder office by Gerald Scriver, RR #2 Haliburton, who said he found it under the linoleum in an old house in Beleville.

The lead story in that edition of the Tely read, "Paris, Nov. 13- German reconnaissance planes flew over the Paris region this morning and were dispersed by heavy anti-aircraft fire which broke up their formation and sent them fleeing home individually by way of Belgium and the North Sea.

"An air raid alarm was sounded in Paris at 4:20 a.m. and anti-aircraft firing could be heard all about the city. The "all clear" signal followed at 5:20 a.m."

The war took up most of the front page of the paper with headlines like "Finns quit Moscow, won't submit to Reds, "Paris anti-aircraft guns go into action", Holland Premier denies fear of German invasion prompted defense moves", and "Britain cuts China forces facing Japan."

The weather in Toronto for Nov. 12, 1939 was a high of 42 degrees and an overnight low of 25 degrees. There was a trace of snowfall that day.

The coldest place listed was Dawson which recorded a temperature of one degree.

We find another report on the front page of the paper that British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's health was good despite an attack of the gout.

The story read, "London, Nov. 13-Reassurances as to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's health came from official quarters today following reports that it was not good.

"No. 10 Downing street said that Chamberlain's general health remains excellent. The gout which attacked him last week continues to improve, it was said, though he is unable to put one foot on the ground. He had several visitors yesterday and maintained direct contact with the various ministries."

Inside the paper we find an interesting story about a fire in Philipsburg Pa., "Two alarms came in at once, and the Osceola Mills firemen, who only have two pieces of apparatus, guessed wrong. The pumper came across a samll roof blaze that was easily put out. The ladder truck took the other job- a house that burned to the ground because the firemen had no pumper."

Eaton's bought a full page ad in the paper which show some of the prices of the time.

The big sale was Dorothy Vernon slips which could be purchased for 69 cents each.

A woman looking to keep her feet warm with winter coming on could buy a pair of fur-trimmed motor boots for $1.98.

In the food section of Eaton's a 16 ounce jug of maple syrup could be purchased for 24 cents while two dozen oranges were going for 43 cents. Bacon was selling for 32 cents a pound with the rind on and 35 cents a pound rindless.

Shoppers at the store could purchase sirloin steak at 31 cents a pound while round steak was going for 29 cents a pound.

Some other shopping bargains included five pounds of Spanish onions for 15 cents and a six quart basket of McIntosh red apples for 25 cents.

Hydro saves

Ontario Hydro estimates additional savings of 15 per cent in annual lighting consumption at its downtown Toronto head office building will be achieved by the introduction of new energy conservation measures.

The building, completed in 1975, has attracted international attention as an electricity saver with its heat reclaimers and energy storage.

H.K. Wright, Hydro's Director of energy conservation, said the program includes lower lighting levels in halls and elevator lobbies and re-balanced lower intensity lighting in working areas. It was tested with groups of employees in selected parts of the building before being put into overall practice.
